HOME RULE PLAN IS GIVEN ENDORSEMENT

SALT LAKE, Oct. 1.—An educational campaign to further the chance of ratification by the voters of the state at the November election of the proposed constitutional amendment which would provide home rule for chartered cities was determined upon last night at a meeting in the city and county building. A committee appointed last spring called the meeting.

The action taken was by way of receiving and approving the report of a subcommittee appointed some weeks ago to make investigation as to the success of experiments in municipal home rule where tried. The report included a recommendation that the general committee lead its efforts toward furthering the chances of the ratification of the constitutional amendment, there commendation being based upon favorable reports from cities where charter government has been tried and found successful.

It was brought out in the discussion of the subcommittee's report that the adoption of the amendment would not impose home rule or government upon any chartered municipality, but would make it possible for each city of the first, second or third class to achieve home rule through compliance with the provisions of the amendment. Once the amendment is passed, it was explained, it is a matter of option with the voters of any city when, if ever, home rule under a charter might be instituted.

SALT LAKE GIRL KILLED BY AUTO

Mae Franklin Meets Death
When Hurdled From Car
Into Fence

SALT LAKE, Oct. 1.—Miss Mae Franklin, 20 years of age, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Franklin, 515 South State street, was killed last night when an automobile in which she was riding swerved from the road and plunged into a wire fence. The accident occurred at 10:30 o'clock.

The accident occurred at the point of the mountain about twenty-two miles from Salt Lake on the road to Provo.

Miss Franklin, Miss Vera Pressman, 17 years of age, 42 West First North street, Merrill J. Gagli, assistant circulation manager of The Tribune, 21 years of age, and living at 566 South Sixth West street, and George J. Loucks, 22 years of age, of 764 First avenue, were occupants of a Paige "bug," driven by Loucks.

Miss Pressman was uninjured, Gagli suffered a dislocated shoulder and several bruises and Loucks was severely cut about the head and face. The car is said to have struck a sandy portion of road, as the party was returning to the city. The job caused Miss Franklin to lurch forward, striking the knee of Loucks and causing him to lose control of the car, which turned into a railroad fence at the side of the road.

The impact with the fence threw Miss Franklin from the car, and it is believed that she struck a post. John Creamer, William Knight and Robert Davis of Holper reached the scene of the accident a few moments afterward. They found the body ensnared in the wire and, removing it, placed it in their car and hurried to Crescent, to which point Dr. I. W. Dorn of Sandy was summoned.

Dr. Dorn found life extinct and believes that she died within a few moments after the accident. According to examinations which he made, her chest was crushed.

STATE EXPENSE ACCOUNT LIFTED

Weber County Draws on State Road Fund for $14,935

SALT LAKE, Oct. 1.—Warrants totaling $702,149.18 were issued by the state of Utah for the month of September, according to the monthly report of Joseph Ririe, state auditor, as compiled by T. J. Middley, chief deputy, yesterday.

Weber county is reported as having drawn $14,935.29 from the state road fund.

The largest item in the expenditures was $454,321.19 for state road purposes. The next largest total was $262,647.93 from the state general fund, for miscellaneous purposes. This included salaries for the month, and also the quarterly salaries of heads of state departments, who are paid only once in every three months. Included in the total of warrants issued are items of $103,627.34, from the 1917 bond redemption fund, which is not properly an original expenditure, since it was merely the repurchase, as cash came into the fund from the state motor vehicle fund, of road bonds that had previously been pledged as security for a loan already obtained.

Utah county alone drew on the state road fund for $114,492.08, or more than one-fourth of the total amount of road expenditures for the month. Counties in which the state road commission expended more than $10,000 in the month of September, as indicated in the warrants issued, are:

Boxelder, $68,270.72; Emery, $45,683.76; Cache, $35,958.65; Iron, $21,686.67; Grand, $21,444.40; Salt Lake, $19,282.77; Weber, $14,935.29; Davis, $13,824.07; Carbon, $12,380.38.

In the other eighteen counties the amounts expended were under $10,000, though each county is represented on the list by at least some expenditure, the smallest being that of $13.70 in Daguerre.

In addition there was spent from the state road contingent, to be allocated later to the proper counties, $24,953.55, and on equipment account, $16,527.71. On the Lincoln Highway account there was spent $337.45.

Among the other items included in the warrants issued is $13,031.51 from the state school land principal fund, which is not really an expenditure, but simply is loaning the state's trust found out at interest. Warrants for the maintenance funds of the University of Utah, the Utah Agricultural college and the branch Agricultural college, totaled $2944.91.

The state fish and game fund spent $713.32 during September. Payroll out of the state bounty fund were $228.91. A total of $3285.91 was spent from the district school fund; $37.25 from the state high school fund; and $1897.57 from the motor vehicle registration fund. Other amounts expended were small.

SCHOOL RULING IS MADE PUBLIC

Peculiar Situation in Cache County Put Up to Attorney General

SALT LAKE, Oct. 1.—A question yesterday put before the attorney general by the state superintendent of public instruction asked: Can city schools already crowded for room be compelled to provide educational facilities for families who move into the city for the winter, but who, in summer, when the school census is taken, are enumerated in other school districts?

The answer appears to be, from an opinion rendered yesterday, that the law is specific, and that a child may attend public school in a district where the parent or guardian may reside, otherwise, attendance may be compelled in the district where the family resides.

The question is more than theoretical, according to advice reaching the state school offices. The advantages of the larger schools of the city compared with those of the rural districts appear to present sufficiently strong reasons to many to move into cities for the school term.

The specific case came to the attorney general from Logan, where about thirty children live close to the city limits, but in the Cache county district. The parents of some also own property in the city. Cache county schools are nearer the homes of some than are the Logan schools. D. M. Draper, assistant attorney general, says that the children of taxpayers in Logan may undoubtedly attend school there. The others might be compelled to attend school in the district where they reside if the Logan schools were to be closed to them.

A consideration that appeals to the Logan school board, as related by E. T. Tabet, its clerk, is that the children are enumerated in the Cache county district. That district gets the benefit of the state aid to schools, now about $14 per head. The Logan taxpayers, therefore, get no state aid for schooling these children. Mr. Draper suggests that this may be a matter of which the legislature should take cognizance.

In another opinion written for the state school offices by O. C. Dalby, assistant attorney general, it is declared that boards of education are complicit with the law when they print summaries of disbursements for specific purposes, and are not to be required to print each warrant. Such a requirement, Mr. Dalby says, would be unreasonable and an injustice to the school districts. He points out that cases might easily arise where the cost of advertising the warrant would be greater than the amount of the warrant itself.

ADVISES BETTER SEED FOR IDAHO SPUD CROP

POCATELLO, Ida., Oct. 1.—Advising Idaho farmers to "seek better seed," E. Bennett, field horticulturist, has issued a statement in which he claims that more than 1,000 cars of tubers will be required next year to seed Idaho's crop.

The superior quality of potatoes produced in Idaho is easily traceable to the good selection of seed, he claims. County agents are planning to conduct meetings this winter to impress upon the farmers the importance of selecting choice seed for planting.

CHARLES RAY AGAIN A COUNTRY BOY IN 'HOMER COMES HOME'

His New Ince Picture About a Small-town Youth Who Staged "Comeback"

In "Homer Comes Home," now showing at the Alhambra theatre, Charles Ray has another of those country boy roles for which he is famous on the screen. Thomas H. Ince produced the picture.

The story centers around Homer Cavender, who, having exhausted all the jobs of Mainesville, goes to the city and becomes a clerk. Having accumulated a few hundred dollars, he returns home on his vacation and creates a big impression with the townsfolk as a man of wealth and affairs. He renews his acquaintance with pretty Rachael Prouty, completely outshining his rival, Arthur Machin, son of the local hotel proprietor. On the last day of his visit, Homer, remembering a chance remark of his boss's, starts selling stock to build in Mainesville a branch factory of the concern for which he works as clerk.

Thinking Homer must be at least a partner in the firm, the villagers fall. But young Machin learns the truth and proceeds to ruin Homer's little scheme. However, things turn out happily, and Homer wins not only the girl, but the management of the Mainesville factory. Priscilla Bonner is the leading woman in "Homer Comes Home." The picture, which is a Paramount Aircraft, was directed by Jerome Storm.

YOUNGEST 'VET' OF WAR, 13, RAN AWAY TO ENLIST

(By International News Service)

SPRINGFIELD, Mass.—The youngest veteran in the world war has been found in Springfield. He is Harold J. Burnette, son of Mr. and Mrs. Adolphus Burnette. He enlisted in the Canadian army at the age of 13 years and served until the end of the war.

Burnette ran away from home in October, 1917. He worked his way to Montreal.

November 17, 1917, Burnette was accepted and assigned to the First depot battalion of the First Quebec infantry. After three months' training his outfit went to England and then to France.

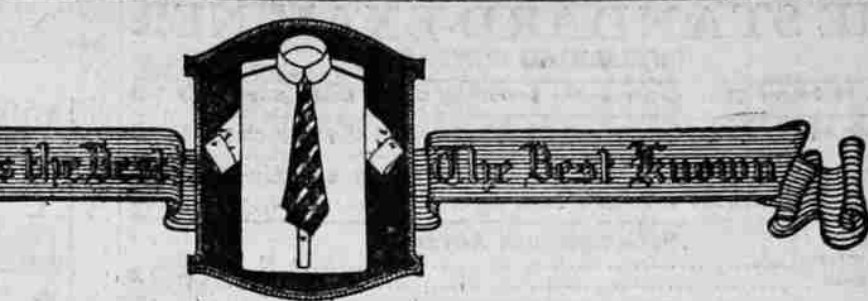

Burnette was in the battles of Cambrai, Boulogne, Wood and the big fight that smashed the Hindenburg line. Then his outfit went to Belgium, where they remained until he was sent into Germany with the 27th of occupation. Early in 1919 the battalion was returned to Canada and demobilized.

Burnette returned a seasoned veteran, but only a little older than when he first enlisted. Birth certificates and army papers prove his story.

PUBLISHER DEFIES PRINTERS' CENSORSHIP

ELBERFELD, Germany, Sept. 10.—(Correspondence.)—The composers of the Bergisch-Markische Zeitung here refused to put an editorial in type in which the editor, under the caption "Sabotaging the Constitution," criticized the methods adopted by the printer's union.

The publisher of the paper notified the typesetters that he could not approve their procedure which he said was tantamount to the censorship exercised by technical employees, and calculated to establish a dangerous precedent for the publishing interest in general.

The composers thereupon walked out.
